The threat to the Environment

Nowadays people are more aware that wildlife all over the world is in (1).....Many species of animals are threatened, and could easily (2).....extinct if we do not make an effort to protect them. There are many reasons for this. In some cases, animals are hunted for their fur or for other valuable parts of their bodies. Some birds (3).....as parrots are caught alive and sold as pets. For many animals and birds, the problem is that their habitat – the place (4)..... they live – is disappearing. More (5).....is used for farms, for houses or industry, and there are fewer open spaces than there once were. Farmers use powerful chemicals to help them grow better crops but these chemicals pollute the environment and harm wildlife. The most successful animal on earth – human beings – will soon be the only ones left unless we can solve this problem.

Read the passage, and choose the correct answer A, B, C or D for each question:

Family types vary in different countries and among different cultures. In Western, industrialized societies, the nuclear family ranks as the most common family type. It consists of a father, a mother and their children. But nuclear families exist together with many other types of family units. In the single-parent family, for example, a mother or a father heads the family alone. A blended family is formed when a divorced or widowed parent remarries. As divorce rates have risen, the number of single-parent and blended families has increased.

In many parts of the world, parents and children live together with other family members under the same roof. These complex families usually contain several generations of family members, including grandparents, parents and children. They may also include brothers or sisters and their families, uncles, aunts and cousins. Even when relatives do not live together, they still consider themselves members of the same extended family includes grandparents, uncles, aunts and cousins.
